

USHCC Congratulates Comcast on Planned Merger with Time Warner Cable

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13, 2014 -- The United States Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (USHCC) congratulates Comcast for its planned acquisition of Time Warner Cable. This transaction forges an innovative, world-class technology company, with increased capacity to deliver ground-breaking products on an industry-leading network, while expanding operating efficiencies through economies of scale. The newly established company would be led by the current President and Chief Executive Officer of Comcast Cable, Neil Smit.

“Comcast is an industry-leader in communications and mass media. Upon the completion of the merger, the company will plant its stake in the ground as one of the world’s most innovative and highly-regarded companies in the field,” said USHCC President and CEO Javier Palomarez. “The USHCC is pleased to endorse transactions that increase the quality of services for consumers, businesses and shareholders, while preserving the company’s commitment to diversity and inclusion. As a member of Comcast’s Diversity Advisory Council, I have first-hand experience of the firm’s laudable business model, which places diversity and inclusion at the forefront of its hiring and procurement practices. This exemplary leadership is necessary to assist the growth of America’s minority-owned businesses. The USHCC is proud to call Comcast a great friend of our association, and ally of America’s small business community.”

The merger will also increase Comcast’s technological efficiencies, allowing individuals and businesses alike to experience greater internet speeds, enhanced video quality, and provide Comcast and Time Warner customers with more advanced products and services for business and entertainment than ever before.

“The USHCC applauds Comcast’s planned acquisition of Time Warner Cable. This is a win-win situation for American businesses, as this merger will result in a broader platform for Comcast to better offer valuable products like high-performance Ethernet and cloud-based management services – all necessary resources for today’s business owner, whose growth is increasingly dependent on technology and innovation,” said USHCC Chairman of the Board Marc Rodriguez. “Furthermore, this merger will also elevate Comcast’s philanthropic works, allowing more consumers to have access to its much needed Internet Essentials program, which provides high-speed internet services to families in need at little to no cost. I trust that Comcast’s next chapter will be one of continued, groundbreaking success, as the company leads our nation’s consumers and businesses into a new era of innovative broadband technology and inclusive business practices that help move America’s economy forward.”
